How does the Company safeguard my non-public personal information	Employees who have access to your non-public personal information are required to maintain and ensure the confidentiality of that information. Access to your personal information might be needed to conduct business on your behalf or to service your insurance coverage. In addition, we may maintain physical, electronic and procedural measures to protect your personal information in compliance with applicable laws and regulatory standards.
What non-public personal information does the Company disclose	We may provide to an affiliated or non-affiliated party the same non-public personal information listed above in the section entitled, "What information do we collect?"

Glossary	Terms you should know
Everyday business purposes	The actions necessary for financial companies like the Company to conduct business and manage customer accounts, such as: • Processing transactions, mailing and auditing services • Administering insurance coverage, product, services or claims • Providing information to credit bureaus • Protecting against fraud • Responding to court/governmental orders or subpoenas and legal investigations • Responding to insurance regulatory authorities
Affiliates	Financial or non-financial companies related by common ownership or control • Company affiliates include insurance and non-insurance companies under common ownership with the Company and that provide insurance and non-insurance products or services
Non-affiliates	Financial or non-financial companies that are not related by shared ownership or control. We do not rent or sell your non-personal public information. However, we may share your information with companies that we pay to perform business services for us. When we disclose information to others to perform these services, they are required to take appropriate measures to protect this information and use it only for purposes of performing the business services. • The Company does not share information with non-affiliates to market to you.
Joint marketing	A formal agreement between non-affiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you. • The Company does not jointly market.
